Jeffrey (Jeff) Wilcox is Of Counsel in Meyers Nave's statewide Eminent Domain and Inverse Condemnation Practice. Jeff advises public agencies, public utilities, transportation authorities and other municipal and state authorities in all phases of the condemnation process, from the pre-acquisition planning phase of eminent domain proceedings through trial and appeal.

Prior to joining Meyers Nave, Jeff was a Deputy Attorney with the California Department of Transportation where he represented the California High-Speed Rail Authority and Department of Transportation in eminent domain and inverse condemnation arising from construction of the High-Speed Rail Project through the San Joaquin Valley.

In addition, he advised the California Department of Transportation on its most complex real property matters arising from road and rail infrastructure construction throughout northern and central California. Jeff is also an experienced litigator of matters arising under CERCLA, CEQA, NEPA and the Coastal Act, as well as administrative civil liability matters relating to stormwater protection.
