Neven Borak is an ESI discovery and document management attorney who supports both litigation and transactional matters. Bridging strategy and technology in high-stakes, discovery-intensive litigation for government and private clients, Neven applies AI, advanced analytics, and machine learning to eDiscovery and document management, streamlining review and reducing costs.

With more than a decade of experience as a licensed attorney, technical specialist, and certified project manager, Neven helps position Meyers Nave at the forefront of complex, high-profile matters involving extensive print and electronic discovery.

Working across Meyers Nave's practice groups, Neven supports transactional matters as well as every stage of the litigation process, from forensic data collection and processing to document review and production. He designs and implements sophisticated protocols to identify, preserve, and analyze complex datasets. These are distilled into targeted insights that drive dispositive motions and strengthen litigation outcomes. His systems expertise is wide ranging, including enterprise email, voicemail, network storage, and SQL databases.

Neven also navigates public agency document productions involving attorney-client, deliberative process, and legislative privileges, applying them under the California Public Records Act and civil discovery rules.

By uniting legal insight with technical precision, Neven strengthens Meyers Nave's ability to efficiently navigate discovery challenges, even in the most document-intensive matters.
